Hi Diane. It's Amanda. Just wanted you to have my cell.

What she we al for?
Watson says a local state of emergency doesn't do anything. What about a federal state.

I would call for a state of emergency. Say you're doing everything you can. We need to ask for assistance. It's a state of emergency in this city

If ppl give you shit that it's meaningless say: I'm doing everything I can to fight for the people of ottawa. This is bigger than what we can handle. We've heard that today. The extra officers today. The extra officers from the TCMP is a huge help. But we know we're going to need support from our partners to get this done. This is an emergency for our city and we should not shy away from being honest and asking for that help as the chief has done today.

Something like that.

Any more advice?

Can you ask for a final list of additional asks from the police that board can action by noon tomorrow?

I wish I thought there was a plan!

Yeah. I hear you.

Ignorance on operational matters (while appropriate) only provides so much comfort.

Not much at all! Joanne Chianello from CBC sent me a message last night and asked if I think there is a plan. I didn't respond.

That's probably for the best.

Let me know if you need anything. Hopefully once they clear Windsor the cavalry will come to yown

I sure hope do. There don't seem to be many police on duty at all in Ottawa today. I heard a bunch of officers have been calling in sick because they are annoyed that they got called off Wednesday night. I hope that's just a rumour and not a fact.

Delivered

I haven't heard that rumour.
